Coalition to Advance Maternal Therapeutics

ABOUT US

WHO WE ARE

The Coalition to Advance Maternal Therapeutics (CAMT) was launched in 2014 with the goal of better understanding the safety and efficacy of prescription drugs, therapeutics, and vaccines used during pregnancy and breastfeeding. Specifically, the CAMT and its member organizations are committed to raising awareness among policymakers and industry about the need to include pregnant and lactating women in clinical trials, where appropriate, to close research knowledge gaps and ultimately improve health outcomes for both mother and baby.

MEMBERSHIP

OVERVIEW OF MEMBERSHIP

The CAMT is comprised of national nonprofit medical, public health, and scientific societies, patient advocacy organizations, and groups interested in supporting the inclusion of pregnant and lactating populations in research. These groups and organizations serve as regular voting members of the coalition.

The CAMT also offers opportunities for industry to support its work through a Corporate Advisory Committee membership. Corporate Advisory members do not have a vote in CAMT advocacy priorities and direction. To inquire about CAMT Corporate Advisory Committee membership, email SWHR's Development Team at development@swhr.org.

JOIN US

Join the Coalition to Advance Maternal Therapeutics today to advance the inclusion of pregnant and lactating populations in research. There is no monetary cost to join the coalition.

Those interested in membership should reach out to SWHR Chief Advocacy Officer Lindsey Horan at lindsey@swhr.org
